

Adventures with a Pendulum

The author, a retired newspaper editor, has been a dowser for more than 20 years. He says the aim of the book is to illustrate how the ancient art can enrich and even transform lives. As well as providing access to a vast sea of knowledge and opening doors into alternative spirituality and the paranormal, dowsing has many practical applications that can be used every day. These range from finding lost valuables and choosing a new career to selecting the freshest vegetables at the supermarket and deciding where to go on holiday. One of the author's favourite pastimes is using his pendulum to track currents of Earth energies (often called ley lines) and visiting some of the places where they cross, such as Glastonbury in Somerset and St Michaels Mount in Cornwall. He has also been on a number of ghost hunts and describes some of the vivid images that have appeared on his personal cinema screen in front of his forehead,
